

The Heirloom Shirt Book by Jill McCloy

The "Heirloom Shirt" book was designed for people wanting a non-frilly twist to heirloom sewing, heirloom you can wear with jeans. It is a simple sampler project that teaches accessory feet and machine technique shortcuts.

Through the process of recreating Jill's beautiful designs you will learn valuable skills while creating a beautiful addition to your wardrobe or home decor.

The 58 page book can be found in sewing machine and fabric stores, on Jill's website or through Viking Distributing, Inc. in Medford, OR.

Something new that Jill is introducing is the Mali Jacket, a terrific serger jacket that can be made in a day. She uses fabrics designed, batiked and dyed by the girls at the Hèrè jè girls training center in Mali, Africa. The girls are given a safe place to learn and life skills training and are helped to start businesses after graduating. All profits from the Mali Jacket go to support the school. Her embroidery designs include “The Bamboo Collection” as well as Doll faces, Japanese, Primitive, Floral and two Battenburg Lace designs from Cactus Punch.

Jill specializes in fun as well as ease, so join her for inspiration, education, and a good time.

Jill created the "Dragonfly Moon" quilt as part of an exhibition at the La Connor Quilt Museum in Washington state. It later became part of her teaching schedule and then a pattern and is a very popular pattern.

Dragonfly Moon

The Grandmother's Fan Quilt is a traditional block created with untraditional techniques. The quilt is a continuing favorite of both experienced and beginning quilters alike.

Grandmother's Fan

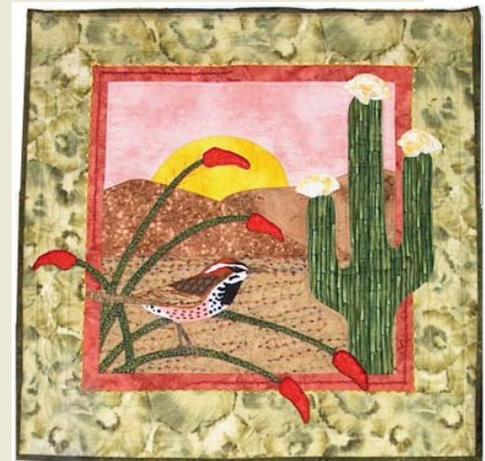

Pretty Quick class projects teach a variety of embellishment techniques and machine arts. From accessory feet to wing needle appliqué to perfect top stitching, students learn how to get the most out of their machines and their own creativity.
